

CHALLENGING THE STATUS QUO

AT THE CANADIAN LABOUR CONGRESS

A Discussion with Opposition Candidate
HASSAN HUSSEINI

SUNDAY, APRIL 27, 2014 AT 2 PM
Cecil Community Centre (58 Cecil Street)

With the Canadian Labour Congress's Convention, scheduled to take place on May 5th in Montreal, what will the candidacy of Hassan Husseini mean? What changes must the CLC face in order to become a relevant centre in the struggle against Harper and the neoliberal offensive in Canada?

Join us for a session of collective discussion with:

Hassan Husseini: A long-time social justice activist and trade unionist with roots in CUPE and Unifor who is running for the presidency of the CLC, will share his views on how to make the CLC a strong and militant leader of the trade union movement in Canada and organize the wider working class to fight effectively for social and economic justice.

And an overview on the CLC, under Georgetti by

Herman Rosenfeld: GTWA Labour Committee and retired CAW/UNIFOR national staffperson.
