6th International Israeli Apartheid Week
National Liberation: from Turtle Island to Palestine

What: Israeli Apartheid Week 2010 - National Liberation: from Turtle Island to Palestine

When: March 5, 2010, 7 pm

Where: Library Building, Ryerson University LIB072, 350 Victoria Street

The sixth International Israeli Apartheid Week ends its lecture series tonight with a focus on “National Liberation: from Turtle Island to Palestine”, featuring Palestinian academic and journalist Rabab Abdulhadi, and Tyendinaga Mohawk Shawn Brant.

IAW is a yearly event aimed at raising awareness about Israel's apartheid policies toward Palestinians and is currently taking place in 13 cities in Canada, and over 50 cities internationally. The week aims to build support for the Boycott, Divestment and Sanctions campaign launched in 2005 by over 170 Palestinian civil society organisations. The demands of this movement are: full equality for Arab-Palestinian citizens of Israel, an end to the occupation and colonisation of all Arab lands, and the protection of Palestinian refugees' right to return.

The week will close with a cultural event on Saturday March 6th, featuring Palestinian hip-hop artist Abeer Alzinaty and Montreal-based Iraqi DJ The Narcysist.
